Pickets Protest Supervisors' Slap at Lake Merced Campus; Mayor's Vote Hangs in Balance

OPEN THE DOOR ROGER—Over 1500 State students assembled in Civic Center Plaza Wednesday morning to support President J. Paul Leonard in his fight to acquire the municipal support for the acreage bills to be introduced in the Legislature in March. With songs like "Open the Door, Roger," etc., ringing in his ears, Mayor Lapham invited the demonstrating students in for a chat.

EAGER BEAVERS ACCEPT—Rushing to acquire the best in Rotunda-side seats for Mayor Lapham's informal speech, students from the Buchanan Street site double-time it across Polk Street. In backing up J. Paul Leonard, president of the college, the students made a very orderly procession both outside and in the City Hall.

MAYOR ROGER LAPHAM REMAINED NON-COMMITTAL THIS WEEK AFTER HEARING PLEAS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF STATE.

He spoke in the City Hall Rotunda Wednesday morning before more than 1500 State students who were protesting Supervisor opposition to the expansion bill under consideration in the Legislature.

The mass meeting was called by Student Body President Izzie Pivnick after the Board of Supervisors had passed a resolution requesting the defeat of the land acquisition bill introduced by Assemblyman Albert C. Wollenberg, Thomas A. Maloney and Ray Blosser.

Students began arriving at the Civic Center plaza at 10:15 a.m., and by 10:30 well over 1500 students had gathered opposite the City Hall. The demonstration was

Colman Resolution Seeks to Defeat Bills in Legislature

The direct attack against the expansion of this college was made early this week when the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution submitted by private builders requesting that the two bills for additional land and buildings now in the Legislature be killed.

The resolution, introduced by Supervisor Jesse Colman earlier before the Supervisors Committee on County, State and National Af-airs, states that the college already owns approximately 60 acres for the site in the Lake Merced district, and that this is sufficient to meet its needs. It adds that one bill before the Legislature seeks to acquire an additional 54 acres to the north of the land.

The property in question is owned by Stoneson Brothers, builders. Contradictory to the basis of the resolution, the bill in the Legislature specifies neither the amount nor the location of the additional land desired.

President J. Paul Leonard, defending the position of the college, submitted a four page statement to the board last week when the proposal was heard before the Supervisors Committee.

Leonard, in his statement, set forth the attitude of the college administration toward the inconveniences and inadequacies of the present campus, and pointed out the necessity for additional acreage and buildings to care for the expected 1960 enrollment of 6,000 students.

He declared that San Francisco State is not merely a teacher training institution, but a fully accredited college granting degrees in many fields.

The Supervisors voted 9 to 2 in favor of defeating the bills which are to be heard before the Legislature next month.

Third Fireside Chat

The third in a series of fireside chats featuring a well-known speaker will be held on March 8, 9 or 10, at the home of President J. Paul Leonard. Sign up sheets will be placed in the president's office next week.

Gallagher Lashes At Anti-Expansion Move of Colleagues

of the two dissenting members of the resolution, late last night stated that he would personally fight the board's action straight through Sacramento if necessary.

Claiming that the resolution was no business of the board in the first place, Gallagher lashed out at the forces that seemed to have been brought to bear in the passing of the resolution.

He said, "Inasmuch as this merely represents the interests of a single private contractor who is merely intent upon the financial gain involved, it would seem obvious that the board would have had no alternative but to suppress the resolution."

DENOUNCES PRE-SIGNERS

He further stated that when nine supervisors of one city begin to tell the State Legislature how to go about its business, it's time their jurisdiction in such matters was pointed out to them.

When asked about his feeling in regard to the pre-signing of the resolution, even before it had been discussed by the board, Gallagher was most vehement in his denunciation of the practice. Stating that,

"Those Supervisors who signed the resolution previous to its discussion clearly showed that they had their minds made up without investigation. The close-minded attitude of those members is a serious disgrace to the board as a whole and to myself individually."

WASTE BASKET

When queried as to the probable success of the resolution in defeating the bills, Gallagher appeared most amused. Remarking that, "Outside of the embarrassment caused by having a San conducted in a very orderly manner, and the students were led in yells and singing by Joe Pucci, Music Fed president. Songs included parodies on "Open the Door, Richard," "Daisy, Daisy," and "Don't Fence Me In."

SMILES AND TALK

Following a half-hour closed conference with Leonard and Pivnick, the Mayor called all the students into the City Hall Rotunda to hear him speak. He was cheery but non-committal.

The meeting ended in smiles and handclaps, which were taken by reporters as evidence of a satisfactory conclusion. President Leonard's only statement in reference to the discussion was that he had been cordially and hospitably received, and that no commitments were made nor conclusions reached by Lapham.

Francisco representative introduce the bill on the floor of the Legislature and then having the bill opposed by a group of colleagues, the resolution will probably find its place in the nearest waste paper basket."

In a closing statement, Gallagher firmly pledged his whole-hearted support to the college program for more space.

He added that, "It is my firm hope that the Mayor does not sign this bill, but returns it to the board for reconsideration."

SUPERVISORS FIGHT BILLS

This week the Board of Supervisors in this city passed a resolution to the State Legislature requesting that San Francisco State's two bills now in the Legislature be defeated. These bills call for additional land and buildings at the Lake Merced campus site to care for the expected 1960 enrollment of 6000 students.

San Francisco has been called "the city that knows how." San Franciscans are fighting for more bridges, recreation centers, a modern transportation system and better highways, and a larger share in State funds. What has happened to the fight for higher education?

San Francisco State College is an accredited institution granting regular degrees in many fields. It is the only State educational institution in this city, and at the present time it is serving an enrollment of 2600 regular and 742 part time students, or a total student group of 3342. The number seeking enrollment is expected to double when the college moves to the new campus. Land now owned will provide adequately for 3300 students only.

The bill for more acreage now in the Legislature specifies neither the amount nor the location of the land to be purchased, although certain private builders consider it a direct attempt to buy their land which they now own and are "saving" for home building.

The Board of Supervisors has by its action given more consideration to private interests than to the interests and good of the community as a whole. Board members are making it necessary for veterans returning from years of service to forego a higher education because the California schools can not accommodate them. They are saying "no" to an expansion of State College to care adequately for our future citizens.

People of San Francisco—protect rather the rights of your children and fight for the passage of the two bills which will guarantee a San Francisco State College adequately equipped to serve you and yours for years to come.

Franciscan Quandary Explained

For several years the successive editors of the campus annual, the Franciscan, have been the brunt of much misdirected criticism. Editors have been accused of presenting an inferior annual to the student body.

Students voicing such criticism undoubtedly are unaware of the costs of such an undertaking. Prices have risen above the pre-war level of $1.50 per annual, which formerly covered the costs of the book.

In 1944, the price was raised to $2 per annual to cover the rise in the cost of production. However, this year, with prices higher than ever, $2 per annual is not enough to cover the cost of a worthwhile yearbook.

The faults of the Franciscan can be attributed to lack of funds rather than to an inefficient staff. The editor and her staff have attempted to budget the funds, only to run into monetary difficulties on every side. With the price levels of the printing industry consistently high since 1943, it is impossible to produce an annual at the wartime cost without incurring a heavy financial deficit.

Obviously, there is but one solution to the issue. The price of the Franciscan should be raised to cover the cost of the printing and additional necessary expenses.

If Franciscans in the future were to sell at $3 per copy to student body members and $3.50 to non-members, the editorial staff would have sufficient funds to produce an original book which is worthy of our college.

It is essential and necessary that the price of the annual be raised in order to produce a truly worthwhile book.—V. A.

Card Playing or Vitamins?

The letter printed on this page regarding card playing in the student Co-op during the rush hours falls far beneath the intelligence level of college students.

The cafeteria on this campus has a maximum seating capacity of less than 200 persons. There are more than 3300 students enrolled in this college at the present time. Between the hours of 11 and 2 daily more than 600 students desiring hot lunches jam the Co-op in an effort to get something to eat. These students are forced to stand, holding purchased food, while others who have eaten take up available seating space to engage in bridge games.

The letter was correct in suggesting that eating alone be allowed in the Co-op during the noon hours. Students dissatisfied with this solution can play cards in the soon-to-be-furnished Student Lounge, knit on the balcony and study in the Library.

Inadequacies and physical limitations of this campus can be remedied only to a certain point. Until the Lake Merced site is ready for occupancy, students must make the best of present inconveniences. The intelligent student will realize his individual responsibilities to the college group as a whole.

Above all, he will refrain from noon card games in the Co-op while hungry students are waiting to be seated.

Sheviakov Has a Past: Soldier, Scholar, Prof

By BOB STEFANOU

Soldier, policeman, seaman, psychologist, philosopher and traveler—that is the story of Mr. George V. Sheviakov, a member of the psychology department.

Born in Leningrad at the turn of the century, his only recollection of school days is the fact that he was always being sent to see the principal.

During the revolution he fought with the White Russian Armies as a machine gunner. When the revolution ended Sheviakov decided to travel for his health and went to China.

In China he went to work for the Chinese Customs Service chasing smugglers. While in China he met his future wife.

Sheviakov came to this country in 1923. He likes to travel and has been in Italy, Germany, Finland and Japan. He has also been through the Panama Canal on a trip to New York City.

IS BIG BRAIN

Sheviakov attended the University of Washington and the University of California. He has been associated with several institutions in connection with his work on psychology. He received a fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation and at present is a research assistant at the University of California in the Institute of Child Welfare. He is intensely interested in child development and has two children of his own.

CAN CUSS, TOO

Sheviakov likes a general variety of books and dramatic movies or plays. Musically, his interest lies in folk music of all types. He speaks four languages and can swear in Chinese if very mad.

Despite the fact that he fought with the White Russians, he is not of their political school. He was just a youth when he fought on their side and never stopped to consider the political implications. He does not want to be identified as either a bolshevik or White Russian.

Of all the cities he has visited in the United States he rates San Francisco and New York as his favorites.

Bob Searle bent our ear with a note about some frantic gee in the composers' workshop who's blowing his top over his latest work. He says it's the greatest thing since Benzidine bubblegum. The gem is penned for six flutes and a police whistle, and he's dubbed it "Afternoon of a Prawn."

Achtung, jazz fans! Lu Watters of late has been playing one night stands in the Bay Area. He's also been recording a new disc set, to be released in the near future.

We don't want to cast aspersions on the Music Fed staff, but a well-thumbed copy of the Racing Form was found in their office. 'Twas alongside Pres. Pucci's best-seller, "Some of My Best Friends Are B Flat!" The owner of the dope sheet had an intricate system based on a harmonic theory. He hadn't booted in a winner and in a fit of despair and forced humor he had margined onto the sixth race, "Horse: Noontime—12-1."

The Great Senior Mystery

By TOM THORP

There are plenty of juniors—too many in fact—and scores of post graduates, but no seniors. "What has become of them?" You may well ask. And we will tell you. The majority of them have left college for various unknown reasons and now make up the extreme left wing of the Kilroy movement, spending their time scrawling "Yorlik was here" and "Kilroy erat in loco locus" throughout the country.

To be sure, there are still a scattered handful of seniors at State, fighting desperately against unsurmountable odds, but they have gone underground. A

Krausenmeyer's Sad Tale: Asylum to Street Car

By GENE JOHNSON

(Correspondent Johnson was sent out to cover the Freshman registration line three weeks ago. He writes from the end of the line, which now is located at Carl and Stanyan Streets.)

This report is being relayed to the feature editor by a conductor on the number 6 car line named Krausenmeyer whom I am bribing with Three Way Cold Tablets. He is under the impression that they are opium and is desolate because he thinks he now is a dope fiend. Krausenmeyer, terrified at the prospect of my cutting off his cold tablets, is treating me with the utmost respect and has been unfolding the story of his life for the past three days. The rest of this article concerns the strange life of Krausenmeyer.

Our friend originated from rather odd parentage; his father was 97 and his mother just 20. His father claimed a miracle and erected a shrine to Oolie, God of Fertility. Some trick of nature had shaped his legs like ice tongs and, dressed in asbestos booties, little Krausenmeyer was frequently used to retrieve kinklers from the fireplace.

He showed signs of neurosis at the early age of three when he savagely attacked his elocution teacher, beating him unmercifully about the head and ears with a rubber truncheon, cleverly constructed from a length of garden hose and filled with oversize buckshot. The coupe de grace was administered to the hapless creature when he ran, shrieking in terror, through the front door and reached the virtually invisible piano wire stretched across the front walk. Krausenmeyer fell upon the prostrate figure and dispatched him in a flash with a garden trowel.

Krausenmeyer was whisked away immediately and put in a padded cell in a nearby sanitarium. He was fed only hors d'oeuvres by wary guards in a unique fashion. The tidbits were attached to darts and propelled through a small hole in the wall with the use of African Zulu blowguns. Krausenmeyer nearly starved when one of his guards developed halitosis and repeatedly tainted the caviar. He eventually made good his escape and was employed immediately by the Municipal Railway who noticed his wasted condition and is anxious, by any means whatsoever, to alleviate the crowded condition of the transportation system.

FINALE

State Clips Chico Twice; Jaensch, Rathjen Pace Club

CHICO, Cal., Feb. 21, 22.—San Francisco State's Gators wound up their regular cage season this week-end, waltzing to easy last-half triumphs over the Chico Wildcats by scores of 57-47 and 67-50.

This year marked the first time in the history of the school that State has whipped Chico in all four contests. The Gators shelved the Wildcats in two previous encounters at Kezar, 58-38 and 48-35.

SECRET WEAPONS

Coach Dan Farmer unleashed a pair of secret weapons upon the Wildcats, namely Dick "Influence" Jaensch and Ed Rathjen. While the Chicoites were busily "holding" John Burton to 10 points in the first contest, they left the door open for Richard, and Jaensch garnered eight field goals for 16 points.

The Friday night encounter gave the visitors a 29-24 half time edge. All doubt of the issue was erased in the second half when Rathjen, Jaensch and Norm Keller meshed 11 field goals among them.

TIMELY BUCKETS

Saturday eve's affair saw the Gators jump into a 17-11 first quarter lead and then momentarily hit a slump to hold a 28-27 edge at intermission. Highlight of the initial half was the rapid-like succession of 30-footers made by Jaensch, Keller and Al Rossi.

The first five minutes of the second frame saw the lead change hands several times. However, brilliant floor play and passing by Mel Martin, several hook shots and a brace of charities by Rathjen and some timely buckets by Burton, Keller and Jaensch pulled the Tide far out in front of Chico.

KELLER ENDS CAREER

High pointers were Rathjen with 18, Jaensch with 15 and Keller with 14.

Captain Keller's colorful and sensational college career on the basketball courts ended with last Saturday's contest being his final. His four years of eligibility have now terminated.

Tide has an excellent chance of copping the whole thing and winning a trip back to Denver. Borlo A. C. and the Karl Ross Post fives are rated the top two billings. State defeated the Borlos earlier in the season. The Karl Ross Post quintet is composed of the College of Pacific club. Among the other top quintets in the running are the Olympic Club, San Francisco Athletic Club, French A. C., Chapel of the Oaks, Spillers Mobiles, Golden Gate A. C. and the Hunters.

State discovered two new scoring threats last week in Dick Jaensch and Ed Rathjen. Each one paralyzed the Chico players and rooters with his phenomenal shots.

With the "finds," Jaensch, Rathjen and Cummings, the strength of the squad is at its peak. Coach Dan Farmer now has any one of three men to toss in at the center spot. In addition to Bill Callas and Rathjen, Bill Cummings has proved an able replacement. Rathjen, a versatile being, also is used at guard as a substitute for Al Rossi or Captain Norm Keller. "Jumping" Johnnie Burton and Mel "Wart" Martin round out the first stringers.

Intramural Games Start Next Week

Spring intramural sports, including badminton, tennis, ping-pong, volleyball, speedball, softball, inter-class track and a cross country run, are to commence Monday with ping-pong leading off the parade. Sign-ups will be accepted by Mr. Albert Dawes in the Men's Training Quarters or by any P. E. instructor and matches will commence the following week.

Tennis will open on March 11 with matches being played every day at 4 o'clock or at the convenience of the players. Entry blanks may be obtained from Dawes in the Training Quarters or from Don Meagher, P. O. Box 347. The draw will be posted both in the Training Quarters and outside the Co-op.

Other opening dates are as follows: Volleyball, March 10; speedball, March 4; cross-country, Mar. 19; inter-class meet, March 16; badminton, April 14; and softball, March 31.

Season's Biggest Fight Show To Be Staged in Local Arena

By ED LEVITT

Northern California's collegiate fight scene moves to the Coliseum Bowl in San Francisco tonight, with the Fighting Gators battling Santa Barbara's Gauchos. The action, and there should be plenty of it, will be reeled off at 8 o'clock. Student body card holders will be admitted free. General admission is 75 cents.

The teams have successfully completed their final training sessions, and the gladiators are in readiness to go at full speed for fistic glory.

STIFF COMPETITION

Ten bouts are scheduled, and all indications point to a large turnout at the fight emporium on 11th Street near Market.

The Santa Barbara squad boasts tough and willing mixers, and should furnish stiff competition for the local boys. To date, the Gauchos have blasted the UCLA Bruins, 5-2, and the Cal Poly Mustangs, 4-2. Joe Lontagne, Gaucha Coach, is hopeful of adding the Gators to his team's string of wins.

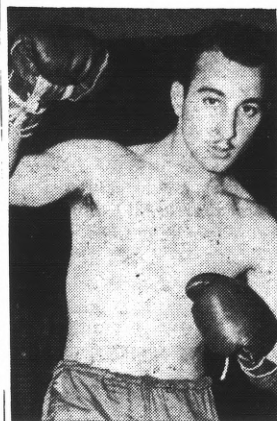

State's last outing was not a successful one on the record book, but proved a terrific moral victory for the squad.

LAST OUTING

Facing some of the finest boxing talent assembled into one college, the underdogs held the San Jose Spartans to three victories out of seven matches a week ago Wednesday. The remaining bouts were called draws.

The capacity crowd which jammed the Spartan's gym were brought to their feet when Gator John Wallace (175) lashed out with a flurry of blows to send his foe reeling against the ropes and on the verge of a knockout after 35 seconds of the first round. The bout was promptly stopped and called a draw, however, when the San Jose gladiator sustained a cut eye. Intercollegiate ruling held forth here.

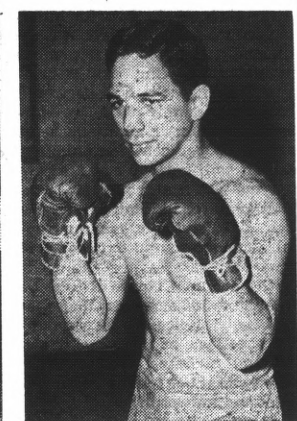

MAILE—Earl Maile (155), one of the powerhouses of the Gator boxing team, takes on Sam Cathcart of the Gauchos tonight in one of the ten bouts.

San Francisco State has won 80 per cent of its basketball games played in the past 10 years.

WRESTLING

J.V.'s Win Two, Season Ends

Paced by the "Big 3," the State joyvees finished out a better-than-average season by downing the Olympic Club Cardinals, 57-43, Thursday night at the Post Street Club. The junior hoopers also made a clean sweep of the Hollister series by knocking over San Benito J. C., 47-43, Saturday night on the latter's home court.

Rick Ahrling, Tony Matulich and Pat Murphy were the men largely responsible for the two final victories of the season with their superior shooting and floor play. Also helping were Bob Cannon, Earl Homan, Tom Heddon, George Albrecht and Si Greenblatt.

A travel-weary team took to the courts Saturday evening at Hollister and managed to eke out a four-point victory, after a late but futile Benito rally. The baby Gators defeated the same team two weeks previously at Kezar Pavilion by an overwhelming count.

State's grunt and groan artists plan to tangle with both Stanford and the University of California on our home mats within the next two weeks. These matches will culminate the wrestling season.

ATTENTION FENCERS

A new fencing group is being organized for men and women interested in fencing for fun or credit. The group is to meet on Monday or Wednesday evening, whichever proves more popular. Women interested in participating should consult Mrs. Florence Stevenson in her office in the gym.

State's Jackie Campbell (145) was winning his match by a wide margin when blood began to trickle over his right eye. The referee intervened at this point and declared the contest a draw.

Earl Maile (155) and Ed Melendez (heavyweight) fought their San Jose opponents on equal terms and notched the two remaining draws.

In other bouts Gator Bob Tiner (135) dropped a hair-line decision to Townsend, the Spartan's highly touted former intercollegiate champion; Nate Sterental (130) and Lou Katz (165) lost to the San Jose men in fast and interesting fights.

TONIGHT'S JUDGES

The referee for tonight's program will be Jerry Donovan, well-known in the Bay Area fighting circles. The other judges will be Ad Sandell and Dave Stephenson.

For a program of knock-down, drag-out action, don't miss the fisticuffs tonight.

Terry's Tangents

By Terrence Michael Kilpatrick

State has virtually become a boom college these days. But athletically there exists on the campus discontent and dissatisfaction with the physical education system. Everyone is now of the weird opinion that we ought to be "shellacking" everything in sight.

Let's get things straight. This house-that-Jack-built is still very wretchedly small time. The windows still rattle, the fences still need patching, the plumbing still burps and belches, the stairs still squeak, the dirt still blows in your eyes on windy days, College Hall still resembles the Rue Morgue, and our teams are no better—or worse—than they were when the college was made up solely of the female element.

True, the quonset huts have added to the general ugliness, and the enrollment has been upped some several hundred, but what college enrollment hasn't?

About that enrollment. All service men. And what about this service clientele? Get the picture: Approximately 90 per cent of State's athletes are former service men. Most of this 90 per cent have had their college interrupted between their frosh, soph or junior years. They've seen a lot, learned a lot, done a lot and come back three, four, five years older. They went away kids and came back men.

Now—at a time when they should be on the "outside" getting established, they're back, punching holes in school desks. Does State or any other college imagine they can sell these guys a rah-rah-rah, fight-team-fight routine?

Service men just don't "give a damn!" Most of them have passed the Peter Prep, Harry High School, Kid College years. They just don't care. Ask 'em.

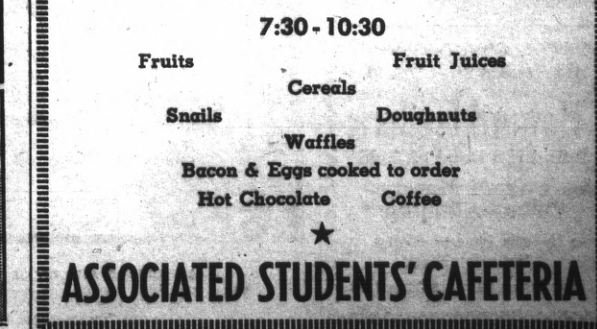

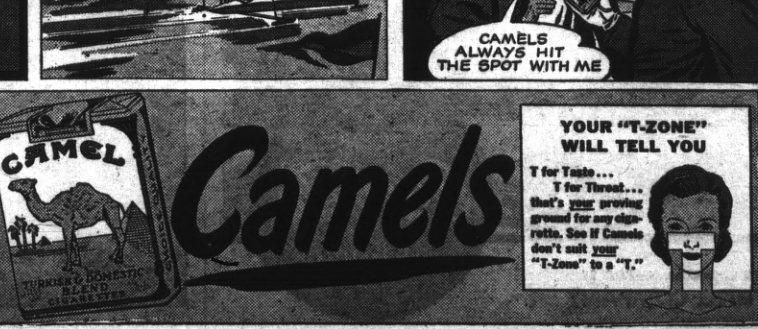

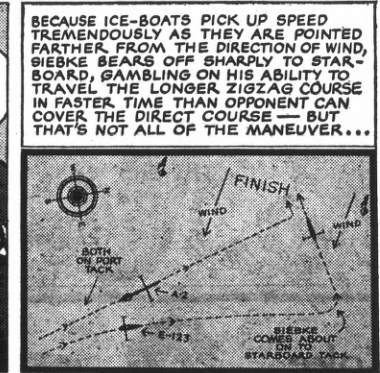

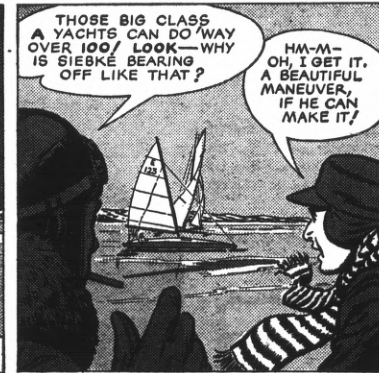

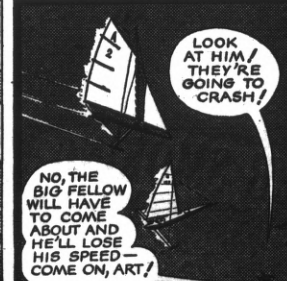

And so why shouldn't service men lack spirit? Why shouldn't service men become in many cases impatient malcontents? Why shouldn't service men resent that nauseatingly compassionate, pat-on-the-head, you'll-be-all-right, keep-plugging-little-man business?

Concrete manifestations of this attitude are the Block "S" society and the AMS. Where is the AMS (Associated Men Students)? It's virtually a defunct, non-existent organization. Where is the block "S" society?

We watched Pete Perry break his back (and his heart) last semester attempting to squeeze something out of an uncooperative, slothful, indifferent, intractable, disgusting, miserably-functioning block society. Exactly three members attended one block session last semester: President, vice president and secretary. The secretary took notes on the president, who made a speech to the vice president who adjourned the meeting. Nor do we envy Armand Quartini, newly-elected block prexy.

So what is wrong? It's not the P. E. department, it's not the faculty, it's not anybody but the men themselves.

THEY JUST DON'T GIVE A DAMN!!!

Leonard's Statement Presented

(Following are excerpts of President Leonard's statement as presented to the Board of Supervisors February 20. See story on Page 1 and editorial on Page 2.)

I have been informed that on February 17 a proposal was introduced before the Board of Supervisors which vitally affects the welfare of the college. I understand, further, that hearings have been set for this proposal on February 20th, before the County, State and National Affairs Committee. I should, therefore, like to have the privilege of submitting to this committee and for the record the following statement. In doing so I am assuming that the members of the Board of Supervisors are anxious to ascertain the facts pertaining to the proposal and also to secure a statement of the position of the institution affected.

FREE OF BURDEN

Contrary to the opinion held by many people, San Francisco State College is not simply a teacher-training institution; it is a fully accredited college granting degrees in many fields. While we are proud of our teacher education program, I am eager to point out that ours is a diversified institution helping to prepare young men and women for careers in a great variety of occupations and thereby serving a much wider group of students than those preparing for a single occupation. Furthermore, as a public institution, our students are free of the burden of tuition required by private institutions.

As San Francisco and the Bay Area generally develop during this post-war period, San Francisco State College will grow proportionately. If it is to serve the needs of the thousands of young people in this part of California, certain minimum physical facilities are essential.

OPERATION DIFFICULT

For years San Francisco State College has been operating under extremely difficult circumstances due to a dire shortage of physical facilities. At the present time we are caring for our student body only by using facilities in ten different locations in the city at a maximum distance of five miles apart and comprising about 32 acres of land.

Realizing these conditions, the members of both houses of the State Legislature from San Francisco proposed that the physical facilities of the college be made adequate to the needs of the students and be made commensurate with the character of the great city of San Francisco. The Legislature concurred in this position and in 1939 a tract of approximately 56 acres was purchased at Nineteenth Avenue and Holloway for the purpose of erecting a college to care for about 3300 students, the anticipated future enrollment of the college at that time.

In spite of the best guess of those in charge of planning State institutions, the population of California began to grow beyond the most extreme estimates. People were lured here by the thousands.

6000 EXPECTED

By all the most conservative figures obtained from those who make such predictions for building purposes for the state, it is estimated that by 1960 the number of students seeking enrollment at San Francisco State College will be approximately 6000, we estimate a need for an additional acreage of 60 per cent for buildings and an additional 10 acres to care for the physical education program required by State law for the extra 2700 students, making a total increase of approximately 40 acres necessary to meet the needs of the people. This will then be from 50 to 100 acres less than that ordinarily indicated as standard for a college of this size by the national planning and construction associations for American colleges and universities.

In order to meet these needs our far-sighted legislators from San Francisco, who are anxious to see that the state makes its fair contribution of services to the people of San Francisco, have introduced two bills in the present session of the Legislature. One of these bills (A. B. 376) requests an appropriation sufficient to purchase additional land to meet the increased needs of the college for the years just ahead.

BILLS MISINTERPRETED

This makes no reference to the amount of land nor the location of the land to be purchased. Such acquisition as will be made under this appropriation should be under the state property acquisition boards with fair consideration being given to the best interests of all concerned. The other bill (A. B. 1796) requests sufficient funds to complete the building program of the college, some of which is even necessary to care for the original number of students planned, and is without reference to the acquisition of new land. The proposal now before you asks that both bills be defeated and that the state not make this contribution to the people of San Francisco.

As president of the San Francisco State College I urge you to take a position which would request the Legislature to deny to all qualified youth of San Francisco an equal opportunity to secure a college education, for obviously, if the resources of the institution are limited at this time, we must pass this limitation on to the young people of this city.

What's Doing On the Campus

ALPHA MU GAMMA

Officers were elected, semester plans were discussed and a decision was made to support the WSSF drive at State by Alpha Mu Gamma, honorary language fraternity, at a tea last Monday in the Activities Room from 12 to 2. Presentation of pins to last semester's initiates was made, and the fraternity was addressed by Mr. Humbert Smith, faculty sponsor, and Xenia Konavaloff, outgoing president.

New officers are Lillian Bachman, president; Bertram Brauer, secretary, and Esther Vasquez, treasurer.

Alpha Mu Gamma is a national honorary language fraternity with membership open to students who have done outstanding work in the study of foreign languages.

PHI EPSILON GAMMA

In the first meeting of Phi Epsilon Gamma, women's honorary P. E. sorority for majors and minors, members discussed the health conference to be held at Santa Cruz, March 31 to April 2.

New members, Alice Brehl, Jean Mahrt, Mariel Tullis, Eleanor Nelson, Violet Pfeiffer and Flora Auyang were initiated February 26 at Sigmund Stern Grove.

I. R. C.

"Colonial Affairs" will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the International Relations Club next Monday noon in the Activities Room. Mr. Charles McClelland, co-sponsor of I. R. C., will address the group.

The I. R. C. is an on campus organization open to any student interested in foreign affairs and is affiliated with the Carnegie Foundation. Last week the I. R. C. held a reception in the Activities Room as an opener for its spring activities. The club regularly holds discussions, dinners and socials with prominent speakers and sponsors forums on international affairs. Officers of the club are Joyce Andersen, president; Larry Rumley, vice president; Millard Morganstern, secretary, and Rubin H. Klein, treasurer.

ALPHA OMEGA

Applicants for the Alpha Omega semi-annual scholarship must file their petitions in Dean Mary A. Ward's office on or before April 21. College women above low freshman standing may apply. The requirements include United States citizenship, a program of at least 12½ units, membership in some recognized campus organization, and a grade point average of at least 1.8.

Students applying also must be in need of some financial aid. Alpha Omega is a women's service sorority.

ALPHA PHI GAMMA

Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity, held its semi-annual informal pledging ceremonies last night at the home of Etta Buckholtz, 150 Page St. Pledges are Gene Benefiel, editor of Inklings; Bill Huffmaster, business manager of the Golden Gate; Irv Thomas, past feature editor of the Gater and now assistant editor of Inklings; Harry Karpilow, former associate feature editor of the Gater; Al Benson, art editor of the Franciscan, and Joe Heath, sports editor of the Gater, was made a junior pledge. Pledges were chosen because of outstanding work done in college journalism.

KAPPA DELTA TAU

Members of Kappa Delta Tau, women's honorary modern dance sorority, attended a symposium on February 22 at San Jose State College, with Charles Weidman, renowned artist, as demonstrator.

CHRISTIAN AGATHEANS

Newly elected officers of the Christian Agatheans club are Richard Stevenson, president; Glen Fisk, vice president; Hank Dawson, treasurer; Charlene Childs, corresponding secretary and Frank Gately, publicity.

Speaker at the noon meeting next Wednesday in Room 209 of College Hall will be Seco, a native of India, who is planning to return home shortly as a missionary to his own people.

BIB 'N' TUCKER

Poise was the subject of an address given yesterday to members of Bib 'n' Tucker, fashion sorority, by Mrs. Muller Stockstill, head of the Estelle Compton Models Institute.

Oratorio Audition Set For Monday

Auditions for the solo performances in Joseph Haydn's oratorio, "The Seasons," will be held next Monday at 4 p.m. in the Baptist Church Annex, Room 301. The oratorio will be presented May 25 by the Music Department with Dr. William Knuth directing the college symphony orchestra and the festival and a capella choirs.

A separate cast of soloists will be auditioned for each of the four sections of the musical which depicts the four seasons of the year.

Interested students should sign up in the Creative Arts Division office with Miss Stewart, secretary of the division.

This college was first a normal school, established in 1892.

Blind Trio Presents Latin Music in Gym

The Pan American League last Tuesday played host to three blind musicians from the School for the Blind in Monterey, Mexico. Dressed in their bright, native costumes, Severiano Vasquez, Raul Torres and David Rangel played Mexican songs and sang in three-part harmony before a large audience. A return engagement of the group is being planned.

Faculty Meets Today

Members of the Associated California State College Instructors are requested to attend an important meeting today, 12 noon, in Room 208, College Hall. Future meetings will be held at noon March 28, April 25, May 23 and June 6.

Complete Courses Given In Clinical Technician Fields

Aspiring clinical technicians are being offered an enlarged curriculum which includes a year of apprenticeship at the Permanente Hospital in Oakland, according to Miss Edna Fisher, faculty counselor.

The present plan includes three years of required science courses and an additional year of actual laboratory techniques at Permanente. After completion of the curriculum the student will receive his A.B. degree from State and be prepared to take the state board examination for laboratory technician.

According to Miss Fisher there is a great demand for people in this field. Positions are open in hospitals, private laboratories and with some physicians.

Tickets Reserved For Quartararo

A block of 100 tickets has been reserved by the student body for the first west coast engagement of ex-Stater Florence Quartararo.

Presented by the Art Commission of San Francisco, Miss Quartararo, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will appear at the Civic Auditorium March 8 at 8:30 p.m. Gaetano Merola, guest conductor, will direct the symphony orchestra for the performance.

Health Center Service Increasing to Meet Need

A total of 989 students received treatment from the Student Health Center during January, according to Dr. Evelyn Ballard. This represents 20 school days of the initial month.

As a contrast, 680 students were taken care of in October, 772 in November and 593 in 15 school days in December. Dr. Ballard predicts that from 1200 to 1500 State students will receive treatment during March.

Joe Pucci Chefs Fed Feed Tonight

Tonight's the night, and you're invited. It's the Music Fed's first feed of the semester to be held in Frederic Burk auditorium at 6 p.m.

Prepared by Chef Joe Pucci, the dinner will culminate the Hello Day activities in the Music Alley today. Following the dinner there will be a dance in Annex B9 under the supervision of Helen Howen.

Commented Pucci: "If enough students are around before dinner we will have a baseball game between the men and women." He also stated that for those who are Catholic, there will be a meatless sauce for the spaghetti.

All students planning to attend the dinner or who want to serve on committees are requested to sign the bulletin board in the Music Alley. Admission to the dinner will be free with Fed cards and 25 cents without. Cards may be purchased at the door by those holding student body cards.

Three Art Courses Offered At Next Summer Session

Three art courses will be included in the summer session curriculum, Mr. Hugh Baker, director of the session, announced this week.

Art 30-130, Drawing, Painting, and Composition is to be taught by Mr. William Hyde Irwin. A graduate of Stanford, Mr. Irwin has studied at the California Arts and Crafts, at the University of California and in Paris. The Palace of the Legion of Honor has featured a one-man exhibition of water colors done by Mr. Irwin during his service in the China-Burma-India theatre.

Art 173, Everyday Handicrafts for the School, is to be offered by Miss Yvonne Whitehurst. Assistant co-ordinator of arts and crafts in Alameda County, Miss Whitehurst has studied at Mills College and at the University of California.

A lecture course, Art 192, Art of the Orient, will be given by Mr. Wilder Bentley, formerly a Yale student, and now a faculty member of Stockton Junior College. Demonstrations by Chirua Obata, famous Japanese artist at the University of California, are to be featured. Tours of galleries and private collections in San Francisco are planned as part of the course.

Mr. Bentley also will be the instructor for another Summer Session offering literature of China.

William Howard Taft was the only person ever to become both President and Chief Justice.
